Scott and Graham.

TUNE-"DEAREST MAE." In Baltimore the Whigs agreed Upon their candidate, And mean that he shall be the man To guide the ship of State: He bears a name that is without A blemish or a spot-A patriot, hero, Statesman, sage-

Who else but WINFIELD SCOTT. Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! For Scott the brave and true, Who never yet has lost the fight, Nor will be lose it now!

Two Generals are in the field. Frank Pierce and Winfield Scott-Some think that Frank's a fighting man, And some think that he is not-'Tis said that when in Mexico, While leading on his force, He took a sudden fainting fit,

And tumbled off his horse. Horrah! Hurrah! Hurrah! For Winfield the undaunted. Who never on the battle field Surrendered, fled or fainted!

But gallant Scott has made his mark On many a bloody plain, And patriot hearts beat high to greet The chief of Lundy's Lane; And Chippewa is classic ground, Our British neighbors know, And if you'd hear of later deeds, Go ask in Mexico!

Hurrah! Hurrah! Hurrah!

Jen 'd Esprit. "Lundy's Lane and Chippewa-For their Hero now hurra! Let Whigs unite-the day is ours, Beyond the fate of adverse powers.

Our foes may boast that they are fierce, While leading on with Gen'l Pierce-But they will find their work too hot, Pursued by Whigs with General Scott."

THE LATEST DODGE.

A TEMPERANCE ANECDOTE.

BY NEOPHITE.

Among the numerons expedients which have been resorted to in evading the "Maine Liquor Law," I think the following is the most ingenious: About a fortnight since, a tall specime of "Yans e nanafacture," arrived in the good city of Portland, in the State of Maine, and established himself and luggage at the Elm Hotel. This luggage consisted of a small valise and a large oblong box containing (for the spectators had examined its, contents) a quanity of books richly bound, which the proprietor had bought for the purpose of retailing about the city.

After seeing his property placed in the room alloted to him, the pedlar made his appearance in the office with a small volume in his hand. He glanced his keen shrewd or sale cheap by [ap22] J. S. THOMSON. eye leisurely around the room, which contained at that moment no one but the clerk and myself.

"Fond of reading?" inquired he of the clerk when he had finished his observation. "Don't get any time to read," replied the clerk, short, busying himself at the desk.

"I rather guess I've got a book here,

"I rather guess I've got a book here, you'd like to read, continued the pedlar perseveringly.

"What is it?"

"Well, its a real good book; and its just for the times, too, 'cause it'll give a man spiritual consolation; and they do say that's what a man can't get very easy here in the stock will be found in great variety, comprising LADIES' DREES GOODS,

"But this is a new edition," "Oh—its all the same."

"Beautifully engraved."

"Oh-nonsense-don't want it," And so saying he commenced writing visibly anannoved.

"Say -you-better look at the pictures," continued the pedlar, thrusting the book under his nose,"

This movement had an astonishing effect upon the clerk. He jumped off his chair and began to examine the volume eagerly, but much to my surprise, without opening it. Then seemingly satisfied with the scrutiny, he asked the price and bought it Say, you, said the pedlar, after the bargain was concluded, moving toward the door, say, you if any body else should see that book and want to get another just like it, send 'em up to No. 73, and I'll accommodate 'em just as about as quick as they asked I of the clerk, as soon as he had gone "See here a moment." I advanced and looked over his shoulder.

Turning up one end of the book, he removed a small slide and discovered a stopple which he unscrewed, and then handed me the book which I applied mechanically to my mouth "What is it?" he asked laughing.

"BRANDY!" "By Jingo!" exclaimed I, pausing to take breath, and then making tracks for the ho-

The same persons and presses that now abuse Gen. Scott denounced Gen. Harrison, in 1840, as an Abolitionist, a granny, a simpleton, a coward, and seducer. They denounced Henry Clay, in 1844, as an Abolitionist, a traitor, a murderer, a brandy drinker, and a black-leg. They denounced Gen.
